

Preparing For Your Puppy

Allen's Doodles

We strive to provide you with a happy and healthy puppy and want nothing but the best for these sweet little guys. Here is a list of things we will provide with your puppy at the time of pickup.

Health Information:

Each puppy comes with a health form that will list their vaccination history and the dates they were dewormed. The example form of what you will receive can be found on page 2 of this document. This is what you will need to give to your veterinarian to ensure a smooth transition. Each puppy is given a health exam at 7 weeks of age. We include the signed health exam from our veterinarian. Take this along to your first vet visit as well.

Important: Plan on taking your puppy to your veterinarian within 10 business days in order for the health guarantee to be valid. If you do not have a current veterinarian that you work with, please plan this ahead of time. Sometimes it is difficult to get an appointment for a puppy well-check without notice. Making your appointment in advance makes things a lot less stressful for both the vet and the puppy owner.

What else comes with your puppy?

Dog Food: We provide a small bag of the puppy food they have been raised on. A picture is posted on our website. We used Purina ProPlan and have great results on this puppy food. We are also very pleased with how the condition is on our adult dogs with the Purina ProPlan. Continue to feed the same food for at least a week, preferably 2 weeks. If you decide to change foods: please do your research and ask your veterinarian. Also, if switching to new food do this gradually. Mix half of the original food with the new food (50/50) so the puppy's tummy has time to adjust. Be cautious with dog food, some food can actually harm your dog. Dogs require a very different diet compared to humans and good nutrition is essential for their long term health. Some pet food companies are trying to market based on whatever the latest diet trend is (i.e., grain free). They may also be the higher priced dog food. More expensive does not equal nutritious and safe. Again, if you do want to change dog foods talk to your veterinarian first!

Treats: You will receive complimentary treats for your puppy. They are called NuVet wafers and are designed to help improve a dog's immune system. We believe this is an excellent product and recommend this to our new dog owners.

Toy: We also include a small blankie with a squeaky toy built in for your new pup!
